

User comments

"The Nest's English for Community and Rural Tourism" is a user-friendly, ready-made curriculum for either the novice teacher or the experienced professional. Maggie Jo St. John thoughtfully and effectively put together a complete program. All the important elements are there to get your students speaking, listening, reading and writing in English for the specific purpose of community and rural tourism. The teachers' notes are very helpful and comprehensive with lots of ideas, suggestions and methodology for the teacher, while the CD's nicely supplement and reinforce the dialogues and exercises in the students' books."

[Lenny Lapon used the NEST materials to teach English to environmental technicians, guides, police and other residents of the Protected Area of Miraflor in Esteli, Nicaragua]

Nicaraguan secondary school teachers of English

- Up to now our teaching of English has been quite abstract due to a lack of materials.
- This book has provided us with support material and recordings of Spoken English which have consolidated our students' prior learning.
- It has helped us a great deal because it reflects the reality of life in our country as well as increasing our students' knowledge of the English Language.
- It presents the language through a representation of the daily life of our students themselves and the characteristics of their communities.
- The listenings on the recordings enable teachers to incorporate different forms of English pronunciation into their lessons (US, Canadian, English).
- He estudiado el libro 1 y lo utilizo en la escuela, para enseñar ingles; estoy de profesora voluntaria en la escuela secundaria, y me toca documentarme bien porque no tengo mucho ingles y tu libro ha sido una herramienta para mi muy buena.
-

Box.net downloaders

- Excellent material and contribution
- Excellent
- I think your Nest book is fantastic
- This is very innovative stuff
- Let me tell you that I am a real fan of your books.